Design Process

Getting Started

Each new project begins with a personal consultation and site visit - a chance for us to understand your vision and aspirations for the garden. From there, we tailor our approach to meet your specific needs, whether you're seeking an idyllic space for family enjoyment, a tranquil retreat, or a refined setting for social gatherings. We collaborate with you at every stage, ensuring that your new garden harmonizes with your home's character and reflects the beauty of the surrounding landscape. With carefully chosen plants and materials, we craft a garden that will enchant and inspire throughout the year. The initial consultation will be followed up with a brief and fee proposal.

Measuring Up

We will measure up the site, taking numerous photographs and producing a survey that records the positions of existing structures, trees, utilities and changes in level. On larger sites we commission a surveyor to make a detailed topographical site survey. These surveys are crucial to the success of the design ensuring that base details are accurate for you.

Design Concept

Drawing from the insights gained during our meeting and site survey, we begin crafting a bespoke design proposal for your garden. We anticipate that this design will evolve as we continue our dialogue with you, allowing your vision to unfold naturally. Once we have finalised the garden design and the concept is perfect for you we can then follow with the planting design, lighting design and any other design detailing required as well as considering materials.

Building Your Garden

If you need help building the garden once it is planned we can connect you to specialist landscape contractors who can deliver your garden build to a high standard using quality, sustainable materials.
